A Picturesque Stay

Left on Oct 15, 2016 for a stay in Oct 2016
We were made very welcome. Welsh cakes, coffee and tea provided. Not easy to find with post code only. Wold be good to gl've road name. The scenery was beautiful and the accommodation good. Pubs, post office. Don't take a big care - roads are narrow...

Cosy and comfortable

Left on Aug 8, 2016 for a stay in Aug 2016
Stayed here first week in August in order to visit the Eisteddfod in Abergavenny - and loved it! It's cosy, convenient and very comfortable, with 2 recliners & a sofa to relax upon after a busy day of walking & exploring the area. There are lovely walks, towns & attractions to visit - whatever the weather. Tretwr (Tretower) & Abergavenny's church and tithe barn are highly recommended.

Annexe

Loved staying at the annexe. We were warmly welcomed and the annexed contained everything we needed to have a lovely, relaxed long weekend. The owners even left milk on the fridge for us, which was much appreciated! The annexed was warm and even though the weather wasn't great we still got out on some nice walks and the coach and horse pub provided some great food. Would go again .

Ideal - homely & well equipped

We stayed for just 2 nights for the Brecon Jazz festival & were impressed. Des & Joan were very helpful, there if you needed them, but did not encroach on your space. The accommodation was ideal - living room, kitchen, shower room & double bedroom. All immaculately clean, tidy & well equipped. The double bed was very soft & not comfortable for us, but that may be personal preference & is the only negative. We would definitely recommend a stay here.

Perfect location for Usk valley, neat comfortable spic and span accommodation, friendly warm welcome and support

Stayed for a long weekend wanting to walk and relax and this couldn't have suited better. Neat, well decorated, spotless sitting room, bedroom, kitchenette and shower. Very warm welcome from Joan and Des who were there to support if needed, but left me to myself otherwise. The village is lovely, strung out along the river and canal. Two good pubs and a very useful post-office/stores. Many opportunities for walking accessible by foot, and central in the National Park so perfect for exploring further afield. Would definitely recommend it and would like to come back here again.

A Little Gem

We loved the warm welcome from our hosts, the clean, comfortable well equipped accommodation, the reclining chairs after a day's walking and of course the Welsh cakes! The location is excellent with access to mountain, river and canal walks and cycle rides from the door, and the pub round the corner was very good. We can't wait to return for a longer stay.

Enjoyable

The apartment was clean with everything you could require. Had difficulty in finding the place since no post code was originally required. The hosts were very welcoming and kind. Only downside was the double bed was a bit soft

Home away from home.

We stayed here for four nights and felt very comfortable. It is situated in a beautiful spot, with many walks of varying degrees of difficulty nearby. Also close to tour anywhere in South Wales. The pub close by was very convenient and served great food. The annexe is cosy and warm. Des and Joan very friendly and welcoming. With the canal across the road, the whole area was scenic and peaceful.
